Geshemas degree:

Before joining the final four years Geshema Examinations we have to complete at least 17th years of Buddhist philosophies in the five major texts (Perfection of wisdom sutra Parchen, Madhymika/ middle way, Parmana/ Logic, Abhidharma/ Dharmakirtis Parmanavartiks and Vinaya) and languages study in our respective individual Nunneries Institution. The degree will open avenues of employment and opportunity to the nuns, as it makes them equally eligible as monks to assume various leadership roles in the monastic and lay communities. This way of graduating as Geshema is equivalent to PhD in modern academic setting. Our six nuns today became the first in the history of Tibetan Buddhism to receive the Geshema degree, the highest academic title in Tibetan Buddhism. His Holiness the Dalai Lama confers the degree to them at Drepung Monastery at South India December 22, 2016.

Geshema 2nd round exam hosted in Jamyang Choling Nunnery from July 14th 2017 to August 26th 2017 there were 39.

As we all know that the Tibetan Buddhist nuns in our generation are among the first group have been very fortunate to receive comprehensive education opportunity both traditional and secular due to the blessing and sympathetic support by His Holiness the Dalai Lama. Without the cooperation and support of our teachers and sponsors the precious opportunities that are coming in our live are impossible. So we would like once again thank you very much for supporting us for many years. We think this encourage the young nuns to study hard and aim at doing this course so this is something young nuns can strive for.

In month of December 25th our students gave the annual exam papers and in the month of 31st our students and teachers went to BodhGaya to attend His Holiness 14th Dalai Lama.

Activities:

The nuns take full responsibility for the day to day management of JCI. They are involved in planning for its future, and are committed to working in our administration office without any fee. Our nuns cook healthy vegetation meals, participate in the daily prayers and help out with chores such as gardening, cleaning and taking care of the cows. The nuns also undertake primary health education and computer literacy training.

JCI nuns have been participating in the annual nuns debate every year since 1995. Around 400 nuns come together from eight different nunneries in India and Nepal, and the debate takes place at a different nunnery each year. It is a wonderful opportunity for the nuns to share knowledge and wisdom, and also to deeper their understanding of Buddhist teaching.

How we have used your financial contribution"

The financial contributions we have received have been very beneficial to us. Due to our extensive expenses and the rising cost of living in India it was difficult year for Jamyang Choling financially. We did our best to provide educational facilities, food, accommodation, and healthcare to cover the basic needs of all of our 132 nuns, five lay students and our teachers. We were only able to carry on due to your support and we offer our sincere thanks and appreciation for your kindness. We truly appreciate your great generosity and kind support which has made for great positive change in terms of our education, well-being and the smooth functioning of the Institute.

Future Plans:

Jamyang Choling nuns practice debate, their primary learning method, for two sessions a day. Currently they have 3 hours when they do their debate practice outside on the grass. During the rainy season they are unable to continue with their debates outdoors and so their studies are affected. We would like to build a roofed debate area so the students can practice debate during the monsoon.

This means that our expense definitely increases these students will come from Himalayan communities and Tibetan exile community as in our communities the youth take special interest learning the Buddha Dharma but many of them are lack of teachers and facilities. So we feel it would be wonderful opportunity if Jamyang Choling Institute provides spiritual education in any society is very essential.

It is our sincere and genuine hope that you will be able to continue to provide us with financial assistance and we would appreciate your assistance in telling your interested friends about our mission and our needs. Your contributions make it possible for more sincere nuns and lay girls to benefit from authentic Dharma study and practice. We thank all our supporters and friends for your generous and caring support for our educational program, which we value so much.

We always do our best to keep expenses as low as humanly possible. We are also grateful to those who have donated their time and energy to our nunnery, and to those who have encouraged and appreciated our work.

Your support is indispensable for our ongoing success, and we give thanks and prayers for the well being of all our supporters and friends each day. We wholeheartedly thank you for your continuing support of Jamyang Choling Institute.

May all mother sentient beings be happy and enjoy peaceful life.
